"Attempting to portray Iran as a nuclear menace to Israel and the world, in that order, even though it has no nuclear weapons and Israel has hundreds, is not merely a sign of dementia. It is indication of near idiocy in a society that can be repeatedly manipulated into believing such totally crackpot notions that have no foundation in the material world but exist only in a world of superstitious psycho-fantasy."

01/30/07 "ICHBlog" --- - The atrocity in Iraq continues, with greater opposition within the American ruling party, but no end in sight. It was made possible by reducing public consciousness to that of children in a day care center. But the latest assault on understanding material reality threatens even greater and more bloody injustice. If the continuing barrage of frenzied propaganda succeeds in casting Iran as global menace, and Ahmadinejad as global monster, there is no possible outcome but dreadful global failure.

Why this wild focus on Iran and its president? While many insist that only control of oil is at stake, the zealous core of opposition to the Islamic and Arab world remains the state of Israel, and its rabid supporters in the USA. It is hardly an either/or question, but even as oil's importance is acknowledged, the enormous power of the Israeli lobby can continue to be denied only by those dense enough to deny global climate change.

Until recently, the existence and power of the lobby has gone unquestioned. This, in justified fear of its financial and political wrath, but also in guilty silence lest past tragedies befall the Jewish people again. How? The horrible experience of world war two has often distorted any sense of modern reality. In deference to memory of a terrible time for European Jews, we have allowed a longer lasting terrible time for those who had nothing to do with any part of that war.

Israel's pristine status in American consciousness has meant near obliteration of the Palestinian people and most of the Arab and Islamic world as well. A great mass of humanity has been reduced to invisibility except as terrorists or religious fanatics, as they are depicted by Jewish organizations working to protect a colonial European State, and by the American political and media establishment.

The major rationale for Israel's existence is the holocaust, the rabid persecution of European Jews by the Nazis in world war two. Perpetuation of the memory of this dreadful history has become the most powerful religious movement in the modern world, accorded the status of theocratic faith, not to be questioned by any, and to be ritually worshipped by all.

This has led to intellectual pogroms in Europe where those who dare to question any parts of the holocaust story are charged with heresy and imprisoned. Revenge is not only visited on the Palestinian people, who had nothing to do with any part of it, but on Europeans who audaciously use supposed democratic liberties in order to freely question history.

Treating a material event as a sanctified subject open to no investigation but that of true believers is a form of religious fanaticism. Where biblical mythology about virgin birth, the parting of the red sea, or immaterial spirits communicating with material beings are all subject to intellectual challenge, this historic event is placed above and beyond the human pale and any questioning of its substance treated as political blasphemy.

If this irrationalism were confined to a handful of individuals currently in prison, it would be serious enough. But when it becomes the root cause of moving toward potential nuclear war, it must be confronted before it leads to even more destruction than has already been created in its tsunami like waves of devastation.

Iraq and Saddam Hussein were deemed threats to Israel, and its supporters in the USA played a major role in bringing about the destruction of that nation and its leader. This was to protect a state still seen as a haven for a threatened people, even if the threats are almost entirely neuro-psychiatric and only become material as result of its pariah presence in the middle east. But present claims that Iran poses an even deadlier threat to Israel, and which induce a chorus of support from the American government, means this irrationalism in the service of collective neurosis needs to be confronted before it destroys not only collective sanity, but collective civilization as well.

Attempting to portray Iran as a nuclear menace to Israel and the world, in that order, even though it has no nuclear weapons and Israel has hundreds, is not merely a sign of dementia. It is indication of near idiocy in a society that can be repeatedly manipulated into believing such totally crackpot notions that have no foundation in the material world but exist only in a world of superstitious psycho-fantasy.

While many groups have been terrifying their members by depicting Ahmadinejad as bent on exterminating Jews, the Israeli lobby has been doing the same job on our government. This has led to congressional leaders and future presidential candidates lining up in support of this totally preposterous fiction. The purveyors of this notion are completely delusional, but rather than being sedated or institutionalized, they preside over and control some of our most powerful institutions. They wield frightening influence over an American public and could lead it to act in ignorant support of such hallucinatory fears.

Part of this dementia involves a very dangerous ethnocentric idea; that Jewish suffering was, is, and will always be a central aspect of human history, and must not only be acknowledged as such, endlessly, but also atoned for as such, endlessly. No criticism of this central point, especially as it involves the holocaust, can be treated with anything but contemptuous disregard for the rights of any who fail to toe this ethnocentric line. After Ahmadinejad dared to have Tehran host a conference on the holocaust, with revisionists who might be imprisoned in Europe allowed to speak their minds openly in Iran, he and his nation became a greater menace to that ethnocentric folly than Iraq and Saddam ever were.

When a supposedly enlightened civilization is threatening, once again, to attack another nation, in great part because of its alleged threat to the Jewish State and Jews, there can be no further denial on the part of the majority who will pay a terrible price. It is time to confine theological, biblical and metaphysical belief systems about the past to the imagination and the church, remove them from political economics, and face material reality before it is too late. Until rational, factual, scientifically provable conditions are confronted and dealt with, irrational and near stark raving insane fears could bring about even greater suffering for humanity than past ignorance has already caused. That rational analysis of our world leads to an unmistakable conclusion:

A Euro-Jewish and anti-democratic state in the middle east, and its extremist supporters in the USA, are a major threat to the global future. Israel, not Iran is the problem. Face it, and deal with it.

US imperialism is the problem:

Plans for Redrawing the Middle East: The Project for a "New Middle East"

The PNAC concept of remaking the ME by destabilizing current states through creating a long war on "terrorism" is developing rather smoothly. Why? Profit, of course:

The Five Pillars of the U.S. Military-Industrial Complex
by Rodrigue Tremblay

<http://www.thenewamericanempire.com/tremblay=1038>

In the US, the dismantling of the constitution and increase dictatorial powers of the Bush administration has not been successfully challenged, either in the courts or federal government institutions. The latter, of course, being unwilling to challenge the Busheviks in any serious way.

The real is US imperialist aims. Israel is just another means to those ends.

Arvy: I tend to agree.

Israel is just another means to those ends.

Without, in any way, diminishing Israel's coincident interests, I'm inclined to believe they are just that. And, of course, the Zionists' blatant lobbying efforts often serve as a very convenient public target. I strongly suspect that Isreal would find itself out in the cold without so much as a "thank you ma'am" at any point when it no longer serves the international grand strategy of the "power elite".

Just to be clear, I'm not saying that I'd be heartbroken to see that happen. In many respects, it would be poetic justice.

The Frankfurter newspapers reports (Jörg Bremer) on the Suicide bombing in Israel but Joe Quinn (Signs of the Times) says it is al a fake.

<http://www.signs-of-the-times.org/articles/show/126268-Updated: The Myth Of The Palestinian Suicide Bomber>

Anyway, Herr Bremer reports that the US will now finance President Abbas in a war effort against the Hamas; but seems to be of the opinion that the purpose is to perpetrate a mutual slaughter between his people and the Hamas, making both more easily dealt with.

Never mind that Abbas is a champion of democracy, which the US aims to promote.

realitycheck: Ignorance is bliss as we revel in the other nation's pain we inflict, using lies and deceit to defend our actions.

The pattern of keeping some small enemies as an excuse to wipe out and take large areas of land, wealth while slaughtering innocent people should be obvious by now. The slaughtering by the Irgun of the Palestinians in what is called "Hunting Season" started in the 1920s and included killing the British and wide scale bombing while blaming others. The King David Hotel bombing is one of several examples, which continues on through the bombing of the USS Liberty and several other acts of terrorism, massive violence and deceit. Why stop at destroying the most ancient areas of Mesopotamia when they can also wipe out the Aryan region too (Indo-Persian), which is as old or older than Mesopotamia. Zionism has no remorse in slaughtering people of all religions in any region throughout the world in it's history since the 1880s. Not only is this activity ignored, but it is glorified by the leadership of many "western" countries throughout the world, even though, as Britain, have fallen victim to it. We Americans not only glorify it, but revel in it as we need another global war. Stupidity has never reached such a level so low.

Yes, finally some people see this. Do we really think billionaire gentiles are going to make war for no gain, caving in to Jewish bullies? Of course not. What we have are coincidental benefits to destabilizing muslims in the ME. Jews must be jubilant over the break-up of Iraq. The American Jew, Joshua Bolton certainly is. Anybody see his latest comments, saying who cares if Iraq has a civil war and breaks up? What power will three Baby Iraqs have to challenge Israel's plans to steal the rest of the land in Palestine? For the neocons, they have their own objectives. Control oil in the region. Not the production, but the future of the crucial reserves. Also, we are showing all muslims in the world we can and will beat the living shit out of them. Of course, none of this even directly benefits the average American. His only reward is to die for his country...

Ideologues (like Global Research.org, Chomsky,...) are competent and informative when they correctly tell you about the giant (us/eu imperialism). But they curiously always miss telling you to take the giant's pants off and look at his testicles (apologies!). If you do, you will see there is a scorpion clutched at them and threatening the giant what to do or will sting. The giant is getting sick and tired of the situation but shaking the scorpion off there is a very delicate and "touchy" stunt. The scorpion is the international banking and monetary system and it's not quite in the hands of any individual country. This might be a very historical irony that Americans and their victims today are actually in the same boat.

Has anyone noticed the amount of war talk directed at Hugo Chavez on FOX recently? A country with possibly the largest oil reserves in the world isn't going to escape this administration. I bet they'll do something one the attack on Iran begins.

I say, Thank you.

How hard is to see that? It is so obvious, and it needs so little thinking and logic to come to that conclusion.

Very few people in the world do not know that. Yet all the major media outlets in the US of Israel and all the big shots there keep barking about the Iranian threats.

They really have no shame taking all the world for brainless moving bodies.

I have often wondered why no one has ever pointed out that--just counting tortured corpses alone--Hitler created a greater holocaust against commies than he did Jews. No one denies that Der Furher killed at least three times as many in the name of anti-communism than he did anti-Semitism: 21 million to 6 million. But all we hear of is the Jewish holocaust. Mmmm.. . If nothing else, that goes to show what a good PR firm can accomplish.

homero: the men required by this stage of permanent massive destruction of productive forces

As Karl Marx wrote in one of the prefaces to Capital:

" ... individuals are only the personifications of economic categories, embodiments of particular class-relations and class-interests. My standpoint, from which the evolution of the economic formation of society is viewed as a process of natural history, can less than any other make the individual responsible for relations whose creature he socially remains, however much he may subjectively raise himself above them."

The evolution of the capitalist system has lead to a state or stage of institutionalized massive destruction of productive forces. This stage in the economic formation of society supports institutions - think tanks, schools, churches, universities, colleges, art forms, centers of communication such as Fox News, Hollywood, Public Radio, the New York Times etc.- that mold and form the men required by this stage of permanent massive destruction of productive forces . Take as an example President Bush. He is simply the paragon, the quintessence, the epitome of the sort of men required to command and preside over a state of institutionalized massive destruction of productive forces. But one can find these sort of men all over the corridors of congress, the lecture halls of our universities, the rooms of our high schools, the research and development centers of our war industry, the parades of our military etc. These men might not present as perfect a model as President Bush, but there are thousands, tens of thousands, millions of these creatures more than willing to become part of the industrial military congressional complex. The institutions insure a never ending supply, and they are not all men. Remember that Hillary Clinton wants to run for Commander in Chief.
